

Two Methods

Smith went away on his summer vacation. He took along plenty of cash, BUT—the day he arrived at his destination the light fingered gentry "lifted his roll" and he was up against it right. Now young Ferris, who has an account at this bank and made the same trip carried just enough cash to pay for meals and other necessities, BUT—before leaving he had us send a letter of identification to a bank in the place where he intended to visit. He was thus enabled to check against his account here for what he needed when he needed it. They can "pick" your pocket but they can't "pick" your bank account. No charge for letters of identification at this bank.
